"THE GREAT OPEN SPACES."

One quiet day in the roaring long ago, a big manly cow boy was gallivanting across the great open prairies on his trusty steed. He spies a liberty loving masculine cow, toddling along the Green. Right then Big Bill Pitchfork Mouse was right up on all fours, and swinging his trusty lariat rope. He swings and captures this Big Bustling Baxum Bovine, then Big Bill Pitchfork Mouse grabs his captive and bend the horns down close to the head, then throw the poor helpless Bovine over the fence among his other captives.

Then comes along Mexican Pete the Toughest Cat in the Prohibition Area. In due time this blasphemous Cat proves himself to be a clever gambler and also a good gun man when the cards didn't turn right.

Well bye, and bye, Big Bill Pitchfork Mouse meets his little Lizzie Mouse. Bill serenades her outside her old homestead home. They run away together to declare their love. Then along comes Big Mexican Pete and with lariat rope whisks away little Lizzie, right from the arms of her lover.

Big Bill jumps right up---grabs his trusty steed and starts chase. He also enlists for his aid a flock of the boys from the BAR- U- OUT Ranch, and a real Hot lively chase is on.

That dirty scoundrel--Mexican Pete--going to any lengths to gain his ends, started hastily for his secret cabin in the dense wood. Over hill, down dale, across chasms, and all such goin's on was the course of events that day.

Many, many, underhand subterfuges were used by that unscrupulous Mexican to try to throw our little hero off his trail, but alas! they were of no avail.

At last they arrived at the cabin. Pete locks the girl inside and then blows the bridge across to his retreat. But Big Bill 's horse was one of these high fliers and made the grade.

Then came the hand to hand encounter. It was a struggle for supremacy between a Big Brave, But Honest Mouse and a underhanded Mexican Cat. Big Bill was fighting as any red blooded man would for the pure and unadulterated love of a sweet girl. Well!! there's only one way for this to come out and this time the hero wins. Got the Girl and--everything!
